20 CONVICTED AT NUERNBERG

High Ranking Nazi Officers Face Death Penalty for Jew Slaying.

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, GERMANY, April 9—Twenty officers of Hitler's SS (elite guard) were convicted of wholesale murder today in an American finding so biting the death penalty for many seemed inescapable. Sentences will be announced tomorrow morning.

A three-judge court found them guilty on all three counts of an indictment charging the killing of at least a million Jews, gypsies and others classified by the Nazis as racial undesirables. Only two of the 22 men in the dock were found innocent in any degree.

The judgment was handed down by Presiding Judge Michael A. Musmanno of Pittsburgh. He summed up the counts as "plain murder'. The conviction was the most all-embracing in the history of the Nuernberg war crimes trials.

Convicted of all three counts were four SS generals, 12 colonels, three majors and one lieutenant.

They were commanding officers of the Einsatz commandos.

Mainly they exterminated Jews. Their own records introduced in court, showed at least a million slain. The prosecution held that maybe 2,000,000 died from their bullets or in their gas vans.

Among those convicted of all counts were:

Maj. Gen. Otto Ohlendorf, who admitted his Einsatz group slew 90,000 Jews.

Brig. Gen. Heinz Jost, veteran policeman and law expert.

Brig. Gen. Erich Naumann, devoted Nazi since 1933.

Brig. Gen. Erwin Schultz, longtime police official.

Maj. Heinz Schubert, who says he is a distant relative of composer Franz Schubert.

FAST CURVE PITCHED BY OLD MAN WINTER

Mercury Drops to 30 Here; Near Zero in Some Areas.

Marion found out Old Man Winter still has some stuff on the ball today when he sent in a fast one that dropped the mercury to a low of 30 degrees.

The temperature was still below freezing shortly before noon when the weather bureau thermometer read 31.

The old boy was rougher on northeastern Ohio, sending along snow flurries, and in the Dakotas and Minnesota he was downright mean, dropping the mercury to near zero.

The cold wave rode into Ohio late yesterday on a wind storm with gusts of up to 55 miles an hour, and in 15 hours the mercury dropped 43 degrees in Columbus, an Associated Press dispatch reported.

A trace of snow fell at Cleveland and at Akron, and more snow was forecast for east of there today. A possible low of 26 may be reached tonight, weathermen said.

Showers fell in the North Atlantic states and also in the Pacific northwest. Thunderstorms were reported in the middle gulf and south Atlantic states.

Rain, hail and wind storms swept over the south yesterday, causing property damage estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars. Floods were the chief cause of trouble in northern Florida. The rain-swollen Suwanee river spilled out over farm lands damaging crops of melons, peanuts and corn.

War Can Be Avoided, Says U. S. Berlin Commander

By International News Service

BERLIN, April 9—Gen. Lucius D. Clay expressed conviction today that war can be avoided.

But he warned solemnly that Soviet pressure tactics against the United States and great Britain "will not pay dividends."

The soft-spoken Georgia-born United States military governor of Germany made his views known in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

He summed up his general attitude in thes words:

"I think war can be avoided now that we have a clearcut objective —restoration of the political and economic stability of western Europe and the determination to see it through."

Gen. Clay, who is the central figure on the world's hottest spot at the moment—the battered city of Berlin—authorized the above quotation as his considered opinion on the chances of real peace emerging from the present delicate situation.

The general warned, however, that the Berlin position still is "very serious indeed."

He spoke to this correspondednt as tension again mounted between Soviet Russia and the west because of British dissatisfaction over Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky's attitude regarding the recent fatal collision between a British air transport and a Soviet fighter plane.

Gen. Clay continued: "If we hew to our purpose to restore western Europe to an even keel with all our strength and refuse to give way, we cannot help but succeed. "And in succeeding we can avoid war."

4-Power Rule Failure Tacitly Conceded

By The United Press

BERLIN, Gen. Lucius D. Clay tacitly acknowledged the collapse of four-power rule over Germany today by passing up a scheduled call for a meeting of the strife-shackled allied control council tomorrow.

Gen. Clay's announcement that the council would not meet on its normal date came as points of friction in the wrangle between Russia and the western powers increased steadily.

Bearing down on the sorest point, the Soviets persisted in an apparent campaign to close the air corridor of the western allies through the Soviet zone to Berlin. They made fresh charges that an average of 23 Anglo-American planes violated regulations over the zone each month.

Recapture of Kastel Announced by Jews

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, April 9—Haganah fighters reoccupied the strategic village of Kastel at dawn today, a Jewish agency spokesman announced.

Earlier an official source said some 300 Jews attacked the Arab village of Dir Yasin four miles southeast of Kastel, but separated from it by a deep valley.

Jewish informants said the Dir Yasin operation was carried out by a detachment of Irgun Zvai Leumi (Jewish extremists).

MASONIC OFFICER DIES

COLUMBUS, April 9—William F. Berkhemer, 59, national director of the Royal Order of Jesters, Masonic organization, died in a hospital here today. Berkehemer, Franklin county clerk of courts, suffered from leukemia. He entered the hospital March 25 and had been in critical condition since.

Question of New City Hospital To Go Before Civic Association

An appeal for action by the Marion Civic Planning association on the question of a new municipal hospital will be brought to the attention of the association tonight at is annual meeing at Hotel Harding.

Association President Bernhard Peterson said today he would turn over for consideration by the association a letter from Mayor Harry L. Dowler asking the group to take a stand on the hospital issue.

The mayor, pointing out that the planning association serves as the "sounding board of public opinion" for Marion, asked for answers to the following questions:

►Does Marion need new hospital facilities?

►Do we in Marion want to build a new publicly owned hospital within the next three years and participate in the federal hospital program?

►Should the city of Marion join with Marion county or with townships of Marion and adjoining counties which are designated as part of the Marion area, if the same can be accomplished, to make possible such facilities?

►If the answer is in the affirmative to all of the above questions would your group give support and lend every effort possible to develop such a program and sponsor a campaign to put over a bond issue to make such a program possible?

The mayor pointed out in his letter that since the city can't get federal aid for enlargement of present facilities the question arises whether the city should plan issuance of bonds for a new hospital.

It has been estimated that the total bond issue would approximate $1,000,000, an amount which the city could not carry alone. A 100 bed hospital estimated to cost $15,000 per bed would bring the cost to $1,500,000.

Grant from Government

Under the federal program Marion would be entitled to receive $500,000 as a grant-in aid leaving the million dollars to be raised by the city and participating areas.

The city has approximately $800,000 margin remaining within the $2,000,000 limit of bonded indebtedness.

The area to be served by a new hospital under the federal program carries an assessed valuation of $75,000 including city and townships in and adjoining Marion county. This valuation is believed by Mayor Dowler to be sufficient to retire a 25-year bond issue at normal interest rates.

A legal question of whether townships in adjoining counties may go together on bonded indebtedness in a joint proposal, is being studied at the present time by County Prosecutor James E. Reed and Mayor Dowler.

FREE SUSPECT IN STABBING

Columbus Man Released but Richwood Resident Still Held by Police.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 9—Police today released a Columbus man, last reported seen with a 29-year-old woman before her knife pierced body was found in a downtown hotel.

Detectives said witnesses did not recognize the man as the one who registered with the slaying victim known as Mona McBride.

Detective Captain Glenn Hoffman said release of the suspect had stalled the investigation into the slaying of the woman whose true identity was established yesterday as Etta Bowman.

Still being held Hoffman said, was the 35 year-old Richwood contractor's helper who admitted he brought her to Columbus from Florida.

Police obtained the life story of the woman from her parents, but were no closer to her killer.

They learned she was 29, not 30; that she had a 13-year-old son, Larry in Portland, Ore., at the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Bowman.

Tell Unhappy Story

They knew these things after Mr. and Mrs. Bowman told their unhappy story yesterday upon identifying the slain woman as their daughter.

The mourning parents, however, could sketch their daughter's life only in broad strokes, for, as Mrs. Bowman said: "Etta traveled around the country in several states. It was sometimes a year or so before we heard from her.

The body of Etta Bowman was found March 31 in a room at the Ohio hotel, sprawled across a bed, and stabbed 20 times by a penknife. A wine bottle had been used to knock her unconscious.

Father Works in Mill

The father, a woolen mill worker, said he learned of his daughter's death from a brtoher-in-law, Ben Clawson, at Yuma, Colo. Clawson, he said, sent him a picture of the slaying victim clipped from a Denver newspaper.

The Bowmans hadn't seen their daughter, they said, since two years ago in Vallejo, Calif. But, they received a letter from her. It was post marked Dec. 23, 1947, in Columbus, and signed Mary Lou Millington. The return address was a Columbus cafe she said she worked in as a waitress.

Although the Bowmans knew only of her one marriage—in 1935 to Harvey D. Ferguson in Central City, Colo.—Mrs. Bowman said: "I guess she has been married several times.

Vets' Housing Fraud Charged

County Commissioner, 3 Contractors in Franklin Co. Indictment.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 9—A special grand jury which investigated veterans' housing today indicted a Franklin county commissioner and three contractors.

A charge of conspiracy to defraud the state was handed up against Commissioner George W. Matson and contractors Carl Lucas and David Reynolds.

Lucas also was charged with embezzlement in presenting a false bill.

Ernest W. Downing, the third contractor, was accused of embezzlement.

The investigation was begun Feb. 17 at the request of Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins following reports of irregularities in the handling of the county's program to provide housing for war veterans.

County Auditor Fred C. Dunn had reported at least two alleged discrepancies in the housing program.

He said the county paid for the erection of 82 housing units when, as a matter of fact, it owned only 76 prefabricated dwellings.

The auditor called upon Lucas, a general contractor who built the houses, for an accounting. Lucas refunded $2,100 as an overcharge.

Auditor Dunn also discovered what he called discrepancies in the purchases of shrubbery for the housing units.

The houses were built out of a fund of $337,000 allocated to the county by the legislature from funds appropriated for emergency housing.

The investigation followed in the wake of a preliminary report last Dec. 15 by Frank T. Bow, subcommittee counsel, aimed at officials of the public housing authority in San Diego.

Dennis is serving as chairman for the house-to-house canvas, announced the following figures: $1,105.11, residential section; $45, professional; $783.50, business, making a total of $1,953.61. Mrs. Francis Schill, representing Precinct A in the Second Ward, reported the workers in her group having more than made their quota. Assigned the task of raising $50 the workers turned in $72, placing them at the top of the list in reaching a goal.

Fourteen precincts are yet to be heard from in the house-to-house canvass, and reports are yet to be made by the industrial, clubs and county, and the report of the workers in the business district is incomplete, the reports last night showed.

While the month of April has been designated as Cancer Control month it is the hope of the Marion county workers to complete the canvass and reach the goal by April 21, Mr. Bachman announced last night. The next report meeting will be held Wednesday, April 14, at 7:15 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal parish house.

COAL-BURNING TRAINS DOWN TO 1-2 NORMAL

Effective April 15; Hartley Plans Stiffer Law if Present One Fails.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 9 —The 26-day-old mine shutdown forced the government today to order coal burning rail service cut to half of normal.

The reduction is effective at midnight, April 15, and presumably would be cancelled if mining resumes before then.

There appeared no immediate prospect, however, of an end of the walkout despite a new threat of action against John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers.

Rep. Hartley (R-NJ) said if the Taft-Hartley labor law which he helped write fails "to put the brakes" on Lewis, he will ask for stiffer laws. Hartley is head of the house labor committee.

The pending new cutback in coal-burning freight and passenger train service was ordered by the office of defense transportation and the interstate commerce commission to save dwindling supplies of coal.

ODT said Wednesday the railroads had stocks enough to last only 22 days.

Is Second Reduction

The 25 per cent cut ordered today is in addition to a similar reduction put into effect earlier by ICC and ODT. Those curtailments have made approximately 70,000 railroaders idle.

Coal-burning locomotives normally handle about 45 per cent of the passenger trains and 65 per cent of the freight service.

The strike has crippled operations in other industries, especially steel. In all, approximately 164,000 workers in various fields are idle in addition to the 400,000 soft coal miners.

Rep. Hartley told reporters the possibility of further congressional action aimed at Lewis hinges on what happens to the union leader when he answers a contempt citation in court Monday.

"If it develops that the Taft-Hartley law is inadequate to deal with him, I'll proceed with hearings immediately," Hartley said.

No White House Comment

The White House, in the meantime, said it had no comment on a published report that the administration has given up hope of ending the strike within the next 10 days.

Lewis is scheduled to appear Monday to "show cause" why he should not face a contempt of court trial for ignoring a back-to-work order. The 26-day-old strike resulted from a dispute over miners' pensions.

The United Mine Workers' chief was cited for contempt Wednesday by Justice T. Alan Goldsborough, the same judge who fined Lewis and his union $3,510,000 for ignoring a similar strike-restraining order in December, 1946. The supreme court later cut the union's penalty to $700,000 but left Lewis' personal fine at $10,000.

While court action and possible new congressional moves hung fire, new trouble built up for Lewis and the UMW under the Taft-Hartley act.

The Southern Coal Producers association formally accused Lewis and the union of breaking the law by refusing to recognize the association for bargaining purposes.

A complaint making that charge was filed with the national labor relations board, which assigned it to the Baltimore regional office for investigation.

That office can recommend action on an unfair labor practice charge, a step which could lead to still another court order.

The action of the Southern producers stemmed from two long and unproductive negotiating sessions Wednesday and Thursday, at which UMW representatives refused to recognize the association.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

EVER get tired of hearing friend wife say accusingly:

"I spent the whole afternoon in the beauty shop and you didn't even notice the difference?"

Sure you have. What did you do about it? Nothing, of course.

Ever have the same incomparable creature ask you as you started off to work:

"Why do you keep trying to give your boss the impression you are the bottom sack in the laundry truck?"

Of course you have. What did you do about it? Again nothing. Listen to the tale of a man who did try.

Hal Boyle

One day this week as I lunged toward the door after breakfast to catch the 8:21¼ a. m. bus, I mumbled at Frances:

"How I look, honey? Okay?"

"Sure, just like Bushman — as usual," she said.

"Who's Bushman?" I asked as I sprinted out the door.

"That Chicago fashion plate you try to imitate," she said.

It was only after I got on the bus that I remembered who Bushman is. He's the famous gorilla at the Lincoln park zoo. That made me mad. So I thought I would show her. I figured I could outlook any ape.

I GOT OFF THE BUS at the Grand Central Palace where some 70,000 beauty parlor operators are staging the international beauty show. I stomped into a men's salon and found Saul Meth, a makeup artist and hair stylist.

"Give me the whole menu," I said, "from soup to nuts."

"That means," he said, "a haircut, manicure, shampoo, shave, mud pack, tonic, sunlamp treatment, shoe shine and a cold permanent wave."

That slowed me up.

"I don't know about that mudpack and permanent wave business," I hesitated.

"DON'T BE FOOLISH," he said. "The mudpack will take the office soot and grime from your skin and leave it glowing like a baby. Your hair is getting thin on top. The wave will make it look like you got twice as much hair. A lot of ex-soldiers are getting mudpack treatments and permanent waves nowadays."

"What did you do in the war, Saul?"

"I was in the infantry," he said. I felt better.

"Okay, doughfoot, plow ahead."

Well, I didn't mind it so much except when a lady came by and watched Saul put on the curlers for the wave and said, "My, I could never get my husband to do that." Another lady walked past and yoo-hooed, "Oh, you great big beautiful doll."

"Don't pay any attention to her," said Saul firmly. "She's probably just a frustrated female 4-F."

THREE HOURS AFTER I climbed into the chair I stepped forth a new and changed man. That's what Saul insisted.

"You've got the new masculine look all right," he assured me.

That evening I went home all set to surprise Frances with my new ultra-male glamor.

"Still think I look like your pal Bushman?" I asked, giving her a full view of my mudpack-softened profile.

She looked me over critically.

"No," she said. "Bushman doesn't wear a suit that needs pressing like you do."

How can you win?

The moral: You might as well tell your wife you spent the afternoon in a beauty shop, too. She can't tell the difference either.

COL. ROBB SPEAKS TO KIWANIS CLUB

Tells of Experiences in Japan, Korea and Europe.

In keeping with the observance of Army Week, Col. Holland L. Robb, who recently assumed command of the Marion Engineer Depot here, spoke to members of the Marion Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Hardnig.

A veteran of three years abroad during World War II, he served in Europe, Japan and Korea. Col. Robb said that one thing he noticed during his service overseas since the close of the war was the too fast dismantling and scrapping of heavy merchandise already over there. He stated that the people in Japan are well housed and are doing well. He said he believes the men flying bombers in the war must have been instructed to be careful of the better buildings in Japan as they are standing today and are in good condition.

Having served much of his time in Korea, Col. Robb explained the Korean situation. When Korea was split on an agreement between the United States and Russia, Col. Robb said he believes President Roosevelt must not have understood the situation, as Russia has the northern part which is active with power plants and industries, and the United States has the southern part which is used only for agriculture. He said the capital of Korea, Saoul, has a population of a million people and that it is a thriving city.

Delegates and alternates were elected to attend the Kiwanis International convention be held in June in Los Angeles. Named delegates were U. A. Nystrom, president, and Robert E. O'Connell, second vice president, and alternates, Dr. F. A. Stengel and Anson Pickerel, both past presidents.

Introduced into the club as a new member was Arthur L. Stiles. Guests were E. E. Holt of Springfield, until recently a member of the Marion club, Arthur B. Compton of Dayton, Larry Kyle of Columbus, Tom Hogan and Dr. G. Pitt Beers of New York, George Ridey of Detroit, Mich., Arthur Henry of Toledo and John H. Mills of Marion.

When warm air expands and rises it cools at the rate of about one degree for every 180 feet of ascent.

Taverns Made To Toe Mark, Enforcement Chief Declares

[illegible] is the second and final of [illegible] dealing with issuance of [illegible] and enforcement of regu[illegible] by the state department [illegible] control.

By DWIGHT L. PITKIN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 9—Enforcement Chief Donald T. Geyer believes tavern keepers in Ohio are being made to toe the mark by the state board of liquor control. Generally speaking, he says, its rules are pretty well enforced.

"The board of liquor control administers the law strictly," Geyer said in an interview. "Its penalties are severe enough to deter violations."

The four-member, bipartisan board during 1947 revoked 224 permits and suspended 430 permits for periods of from 30 to 90 days. It dismissed only 32 cases involving 43 permits and withheld penalties pending good behavior in 84 cases involving 149 permits.

The main causes for citing permit holders before the board last year were gambling devices, false statements as to private clubs, Sunday sales and sale to minors.

There were 131 citations early in 1947 against permit holders accused of making false statements in qualifying for private club licenses. This was an unusually large number of private club citations and resulted from an investigation of the flock of permits issued in the closing days of the Lausche administration.

Drives on Gambling

The department kept up its drive to abolish gambling in liquor spots. There were 131 citations on charges of maintaining and operating gambling devices.

Other citations included: Sunday sales, 115; sales to minors, 59; illegal possession (for example, having whisky for sale when the permit called only for beer), 42; sales to non members of a private club, 32; after hour sales, 24; sales to drunks, 20; false material statement in application for a permit, 18; operating in a disorderly manner, 14; not the owner or operator of a retail store or restaurant, 14; hindering lawful inspection, 12; unsanitary conditions, 12; sales for consumption off the premises, 11; unlawful purchase, 8; employment of minors, 7.

Geyer said his biggest headache was not enforcement of liquor department rules among permit holders but the policing of dry territory. Under local option, around 70 per cent of the geographical area of Ohio bans the sale of liquor by the glass. Geyer finds it a big problem to keep down bootlegging in dry and partly dry territory.

"About 70 per cent of the activities of the enforcement division, Geyer said, "is concerned with the suppression of bootlegging, illegal stills and illegal transportation of liquor."

Sells Without License

A bootlegger is a fellow who sells liquor without a license from the state. He usually operates from the hip pocket, his home, a basement speakeasy, a candy store or grocery. A bootlegger is a source of supply for smartaleck teenagers who cause trouble by taking liquor to high school games.

The enforcement division operates through nine district offices—Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Akron, Canton, Dayton, Portsmouth and Sandusky. It has 90 men to enforce liquor laws in the state's 88 counties.

"We are operating now mostly on the basis of complaint," Geyer said. "We get complaints by letter, telephone calls, local police and sheriff's, and sometimes from permit holders complaining about other permit holders. Many good complaints are anonymous."

If a district office gets a complaint, an inspector is assigned to investigate it, usually under cover. The inspector has the right to arrest a permit holder and have him brought in court on charges of violating the liquor laws.

Turns in Report

After investigating a complaint, the inspector turns in a report to the district office. The district inspector sends in a report to the main office in Columbus. If there has been a violation of liquor department regulations, the enforcement chief makes a citation report to assistant Attorney General Charles G. Schnur.

Schnur then has the permit holder cited for a hearing before the state board of liquor control. The board sets a date for a hearing of the charges.

Walter Mitchell, chairman of the board, presides at the hearing at which testimony is taken under oath. Other members of the board are Simon Leis, Maude McQuate and Frank Krebs. A permit holder usually is represented by an attorney and evidence is heard under usual court procedure. The board has the power to suspend, revoke and cancel permits. Its decisions, however, can be appealed to the Franklin county common pleas court.

Geyer is of the opinion liquor department regulations are well enforced, but he believes the laws should be tightened up to obtain better enforcement of liquor laws in the courts.

It has been his experience since taking over as enforcement chief last October, Geyer said, that some courts have been inclined to let violators off lightly.

"There are too many delays in trying cases in some communities," Geyer said. "I believe there should be more severe penalties for illegal operations. The penalties meted out are not sufficient to deter others from bootlegging."

Eagles Members Submit To Blood Typing Test

At a meeting of the Eagles held Wednesday at the Eagles' lodge rooms, members of the lodge and the ladies' auxiliary submitted to blood typing test conducted by Marion City hospital attendants. The purpose of the typing procedure was to form a blood bank within the lodge. Misses Alice Kint, La Von Schlecht, Florence Stough, and M. E. Kates made the tests.

Other business of the meeting consisted of reading two applications, to be initiated May 2, a presentation of the calendar of events for the remainder of the month, by entertainment chairman, George Hammye, and announcement by President Omar Williams that 25 members would attend a district 31 initiation to be held in Bellefontaine April 11. He announced that the installation of officers in the local lodge would take place Wednesday. Arrangements to support a softball team were made, and plans for a dance April 10, a fishfry, April 23, and a family night April 27 were announced.

JAYCEES CONTINUE SAFETY CAMPAIGN

To Hold Another Demonstration with Dummies Saturday.

The Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce will continue its drive to make pedestrians traffic safety minded with another public demonstration Saturday, Jaycee safety committee chairman Ray Coleman announced today.

Jaycees will place their familiar dummies on the southwest corner of West Center and Prospect streets at Frank's department store with a running commentary on safety rules for pedestrians in crossing busy intersections.

Coleman indicated attention would be focused on the southwest corner of the intersection rather than all four corners at once as was previously done in the demonstration conducted at Main and Center streets.

Pedestrians will be warned about stepping off the curb before the light is with them and against crossing against the traffic light and "jaywalking."

It was indicated that in connection with the Jaycee safety campaign, the group would again sponsor painting of the red strips on the pavement carrying the warning "wait for the green" as a reminder to pedestrians about to cross an intersection. This work is slated to get under way in the very near future, Coleman reported.

Among other safety aids to pedestrians plugged by the junior chamber was the recent painting of a wide yellow strip at the corner of Delaware avenue and Vernon Heights boulevard separating the sidewalk from the street at the entrance to the Harding Memorial where there is no curb.

Legalities Won't Burn

THE LEGALITIES in the coal strike have reached the point where interpreters have to interpret the interpretations. It's no comfort to know that if the United States is fatally paralyzed by a fuel shortage everything will be shipshape and legal.

Legalities won't burn. But the American public is burning over their abuse It is fed up with telling the world what it can do if John Lewis and his legal advisers will give consent. If coal operators had shut down the mines over a technicality, something would be done in a hurry. The law is clear on that point.

When law is tortured to give justification to acts against the public interest, something is wrong. Law is supposed to express the will of the people, not the devious reasoning of lawyers. John Lewis and his mine union, having established a monopoly of labor in a basic industry, have abused the monopoly beyond reason They don't know it yet, or if they do know it they don't care, but it isn't the will of the people to let their welfare be knocked silly every time Strangler Lewis decides to try some new legal holds on the coal industry.

Don't Underestimate Wallace

IN BOSTON last Sunday 3,000 delegates organized the Progressive party of Massachusetts—Henry Wallace for President

The spirit of the convention, the Boston Herald reported, was one of jubilance, with overtones of hysteria. More than $53,000 was collected. "The audience for the most part," said the Herald, "was composed of people like your own neighbors, whether college professors, laborers or professional men." Communists were present, but stayed in the background. One delegate who didn't stay in the background was a young woman representing the Wallace-for-President club of Mexico City. The candidate posed with her for a picture. Mr. Wallace takes his converts where he finds them, even if they're from foreign countries.

The dumbest thing Americans could do about Wallace is to bury their heads in the sand of their certainty that he can't be elected in 1948. Of course he can't. He knows that. Election in 1948 isn't his goal. His goal is to be a catch-all for minorities with no sympathy for the traditional principles of political parties in the United States—either the Republican party or what's left of the Democratic party. The very fact he has led some of these minorities out of the Democratic party thereby crippling it, shows what can be done with the kind of leverage he and his advisers are prepared to use It's the divide-and-rule strategy of Old World politics.

Spectacular Diversion

THE Russians have back-pedaled a few steps in the Berlin war of nerves but, viewed in perspective, that may have been only a strategic retreat in the battle for men's minds For the Berlin news of the last few days crowded the European recovery plan's passage off European front pages.

The sudden show of aggressiveness in Berlin created a spectacular diversion that distracted attention from one of the greatest decisions ever reached by any people. News of the ERP's passage reached Europe but it didn't make the impression the Berlin headlines did.

If the Russians' purpose was to distract attention from ERP, it was an effective tactic that caught the western world off guard. It was a move so clever its probable purpose wasn't immediately apparent to the western allies But the move also was evidence of importance the Russians attach to ERP. When they run the risk of war to divert attention from its passageen there's ample evidence they fear ERP will wreck the Kremlin's plans for western Europe.

A Committee Disbands

A KEY United Nations committee, for atomic control, quietly expired the other day, its purpose unachieved. H. H. Osborn, the American member, said further meetings were useless because the Russians "hear only the echo of their own voices. They are victims of a system which fixes their minds in an unchangeable cast."

The United States made an offer to submit atomic energy to international control. All materials and production facilities would have been placed in charge of an international agency. Well noted was the paradox that this proposed international socialization of atomic energy was suggested by the leading capitalist country and rejected by the country which regards itself as the homeland of Communistic Socialism

Research into the military use of atomic energy will continue at top speed. Scientists agree the secret of the bomb cannot long remain hidden, which means that supremacy is the price of survival. Meanwhile, the world will continue to hope that somehow an agreement eventually will be worked out to end the mad competition.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

A Good Tip on Reason for Crime Increase.

YEAR by year, J Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, issues reports on the increase of crime in the United States. He says:

"Compared with prewar figures, urban crime in 1947 was still high with rape and aggravated assault 48 3 per cent and 59 5 per cent over the average for 1938-41 Nineteen forty-seven urban crime exceeded prewar average figures in other categories as follows murder, 15 4 per cent; burglary, 15 3 per cent; robbery, 14 6 per cent, larceny, 2 6 per cent; negligent manslaughter, 2 1 per cent; and auto theft, 1 9 per cent."

SOKOLSKY

He adds'

". . . Arrests of males under 21 increased 10 5 per cent over the figures of 1946 and arrests of girls under 21 declined 6 6 per cent . . ."

There seems to be a tendency to attribute the crime increase to dislocations and brutalization attending a war era But that can be no explanation for increases of crime among those who remained in the bosoms of their families during the war years. Or were they not so carefully guarded and nurtured? Certainly, we are up against the fact that the usual economic cause for crime, stark, brutal, debasing poverty, does not exist here. What poverty does exist in the United States is neither stark nor debasing and public and private agencies of succor and relief to serve those who are helpless and dependent Furthermore, we have expended an enormous budget for more than a century on general education, in most states with some measure of competence; in some, less so.

No Unemployment

Furthermore, there has been no general unemployment during this period; in fact, in some areas there has been a shortage of labor and everywhere wages have been extraordinarily high and attractive, although taxes and the high cost of living have cut into earnings

Nevertheless, crime increases, and it increases among the young It is even possible to assume that crime has, for some children, become fun. Yet, never in our history have such efforts been made to organize play, to provide outlets for individual and collective endeavor ("activities," I believe the educators call it) than in recent years. In large cities, particularly, there are city-supported playgrounds, swimming pools, and such devices

Suppose we were not to deal with crime but with virtue! Suppose we were to ask why young people do not commit crimes! What makes them good?

I attended, as a boy, a public school in a New York slum—one of the very worst slums in this complex city. All of the boys came from what these days would be called "underprivileged homes." I should say that for most of the boys, a penny was a lot of money. Some of the boys lunched on a frankfurter and roll sold by a pushcart peddler for a cent or two I knew of boys who lunched on a roll with mustard to sweeten it.

Many Succeed

Now, I have come across some of those boys 40 years later and many of them are fine men, some in the higher professions, some in business There may be some thieves and racketeers A few of my classmates were earning their livings as pickpockets even while we were in elementary school In fact, I recall one boy who opened a school for pickpocketing, but his pupils were very few, indeed.

What kept most of these children of immigrants who lived in stark poverty virtuous? Many of their parents were totally absorbed in the task from sunrise to sunset, of earning a meager living. Few of their parents were literate in any language Fewer still could speak English or were familiar with the mores of this country. Yet they maintained a high standard of ethics and were guided by moral law.

The answer, of course, is that they did not live secular lives. They were a deeply religious people whose personal lives were closely associated with God's law of right and wrong. And they knew God's law and handed it down to their children with unfailing certainty Theirs was not a "relative" world but one in which "Thus saith the Lord" was controlling. They called it "respect," but it meant obedience and love

Secularization of education may have advantages but it has produced no substitute for moral law. J Edgar Hoover might look into that.

Administration of ERP

By Raymond Moley

PAUL HOFFMAN answers the call for a man to head ERP who actually has built things. The appointment of a politician, a diplomat, a theoretical economist or a financier would have been bad. Europe needs, above all, an industrial repair job. Food, loans to governments and raw materials are essential. But unless the industrial machinery of Europe gets back to the job of producing what its citizens need, our loans and gifts are down the drain.

Hoffman is regarded in business circles as a bit of a radical, an innovater and a sympathizer with the more mild measures of government regulation of business. Hard-boiled Republicans were talking about a more conservative businessman for the job. But Hoffman should be sufficiently experienced and also sufficiently flexible of mind to meet a situation never before faced.

MOLEY

It is clear in the plans drawn up by the 16 nations at Paris and by the President's committees that the practical needs of industrial reconstruction were not sufficiently stressed. The best proof of this is the neglect of provision for machine tools in the program. Alexander G. Bryant, president of the National Machine Tool Builders' association, has been insisting on more recognition of machine tools as a vital part of the program. He points out that the 16-nation report on requirements was put together by economists and politicians, rather than by industrial people. Consequently, in both of the reports of the Paris Conference, the term "machine tools" appeared only once.

It is pointed out that a considerable part of the stuff we should send should be equipment capable of reproducing itself. Put a group of machine tools in a room, and they will produce a litter of new machine tools or other machinery. Put any other tools in a room, and they will produce only goods for public consumption. Europe must recreate the means of internal health and stability This is the lasting and helpful part of the ERP.

Must Follow Through

The ERP must do more than channel loans and tools through governments. It must, as Hoffman told the senate foreign relations committee, follow through to "the point of ultimate use."

If goods and loans are followed to their point of ultimate use, private industry in Europe will be involved. And that points to the desirability of doing what can be done to reactivate that industry and to utilize as far as possible experienced European managers in private industry. In the long run, a revival of capitalistic industry depends upon private management, not on governments, however sympathetic. Loans made directly to private concerns or groups of private concerns should be safer and more productive than loans to governments, which rise and fall with the political tide. Extensive visits of European managers to the United States and of American managers to Europe should be provided for within the ERP We must give know-how, as well as money and goods

Barring an accidental war the real effects of ERP should be apparent before many months.

The Pittsburgh Pact

A CONFERENCE in Pittsburgh 30 years ago laid the basis for the Czechoslovak republic, now in control of the Communists.

Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, Czech leader, and Albert Mamatej, president of the National Slovak Society, arranged terms of an agreement which set up an independent nation taking the Czechs and the Slovaks from under 500 years of domination by the Austro-Hungarian empire. Czechs and Slovaks in America raised the funds that launched the new nation.

The agreement was signed on Memorial day, 1918, and the Allies approved plans for a government to be set up at Prague soon after the conclusion of World War I later in the year. While in Washington arranging for the new government, Dr. Masaryk learned he had been elected president.

The new republic was formally approved at the Versailles peace conference and Dr Masaryk was reelected in 1920, 1927 and 1934 He resigned in 1935 because of his advanced age, turning over the government to Dr. Edward Benes.

Germans Worry About Language

By The Associated Press

BERLIN — Some Berlin Germans are worrying about what's happening to their language under the impact of four occupation armies—especially the widespread adoption of American slang.

A letter to the British-licensed newspaper Telegraf complained it was bad enough when the American expressions of "Okay," "Hello there," and "Oh, Baby" found widespread usage

"But," the writer continued, "must we use 'bye-bye' or 'adieu' instead of our own 'auf wiedersehen'?

"True enough we can't even buy a gown or a perfume these days unless it has a French or English name. But must we gibber in foreign tongues and convert our whole language into a slang?"

Treaty with Western Europe

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THE NEXT and biggest step of all is just ahead. The nations of the newly formed western European union—Britain, France and the three Benelux countries—want a formal treaty of alliance with the United States The American policy makers of the executive branch, after careful consideration of the problem on the highest level, have already made up their minds that this revolutionary departure from the old traditions of American foreign relations is now urgently necessary.

If Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and the other congressional leaders approve the project, therefore, a treaty of alliance between the two branches of the great Atlantic community will be placed before the congress at this session. If so great a venture is considered too difficult at this time the President will seek bi-partisan support for a declaration of American military support for the western European union But what is really wanted is a formal senate-ratified alliance, within the framework of the United Nations, on the rough pattern of the Rio pact.

This will not mean, however, that the United States will merely join Western Union as the sixth participating nation. The Western Union nations have special political and economic interests which do not concern the United States. Indeed, it is hoped that in time Western Union may form the kernel of a United States of Europe quite independent from this country. For this reason among others, the proposed pact, if the senate leaders approve, will be a written understanding between the United States on one hand, and the Western European nations on the other.

Basis of Pact.

Such a pact will amount in practice to a firm commitment by the United States to go to war if Western Union is attacked by Russia Inevitably, it will involve close collaboration, both military and political, between this country and Western Union, and probably revived military lend-lease as well. Consultations are already quietly under way among the five Western Union nations looking to the establishment of a permanent secretariat, responsible for joint planning and joint staff work. This body is likely to be set up soon, probably in Paris or the Hague. American political and military officers will undoubtedly be attached to this body in a special capacity.

Largely depending on the advice of Senator Vandenberg, the idea of a formal alliance may be postponed In that case, the device of a declaration of support for the western European union will be resorted to, and something similar to the relation between the U S. and Canada will emerge. No alliance between the United States and Canada exists. Yet President Franklin Roosevelt made what amounted to a clear commitment to defend Canada against aggression when he asserted that the United States could not "stand idly by" if Canada were attacked. During the war a system of joint military consultation was developed, and although no treaty has been signed, this joint staff system still prevails.

In the same way, an official announcement could be made in effect committing the United States to go to the aid of Western Union if attacked. A joint staff system would then be established, on the pattern of the American-Canadian system, or the existing Anglo-American combined Chiefs of Staff.

Probable Outcome.

Yet a more formal pact, ratified by the United States senate, now seems the more likely outcome. The reasons are simple. A unilateral declaration by President Truman, on the pattern of Roosevelt's statement on Canada, would have the virtue of not requiring senate ratification. But it would have little meaning unless it had obvious and overwhelming bi-partisan support. This is so simply because it is now probable to the point of certainty that Truman will not be President of the United States a year from now. If a unilateral declaration is made, some technique for demonstrating bi-partisan support must be evolved. One possibility is a resolution sponsored by Vandenberg in the senate.

Another Little Bundle for Britain?

British newspapers are speculating that Princess Elizabeth is infanticipating.

There'll always be an England.

The Princess' latest outfit gives the appearance of being a maternity dress although there is a chance, of course, that it is just the new look . . . and not the old story.

Still, if the Mountbattens are indeed expecting a visit from the stork, Britain will have to change the words of one of its favorite songs, to "There's a New Bird Over The White Cliffs of Dover."

Incidentally, should the Princess indeed have a baby, there will finally materialize something Hitler was never able to bring aboubt . . . .

Roughing It

By TRUMAN TWILL

ONE OF this column's loveliest readers — a lady so delightful that she puts out of one mind all such things as scrub buckets and wallpaper cleaner—has demanded to know whe Truman Twill is going to write his annual piec about housecleaning. Informed that this year was written early, she sighed that she had miss ed it, putting into the sigh all the feeling one would expect if she had missed something im portant.

Of course it was the gentlemanly thing to promise that in that event there'd be another column about spring housecleaning, just for her The fact is, her appearance suggested a new angle about housecleaning—that it's the average housewife's substitute for roughing it. The real reason women can hardly wait for housecleaning to happen is the same reason men can hardly wait to go on a fishing trip—they want to let themselves go.

It's because women are tired of keeping up appearances and adjusting themselves to the routines of daily life—three meals a day, making the beds, sweeping the living room rug, dusting preparing the meals on time, being cheerful and so on. All of a sudden something snaps—and it can't be fixed with a safety pin.

They tear down curtains and drapes. They manhandle pianos and davenports—things they wouldn't touch under any other circumstances They get careless about spoiling their manicures and do not care what happens to their hair. They quit worrying about how they are going to look and quickly succeed in looking so terrible no one else worries either because they obviously are beyond repair.

They abandon all pretense of regularity abou meals The comforts of home become a bitter jest. They climb up and fall off stepladders without bruising easily. They contort themselves and do things which would lead to legal action if they occurred at any other time.

For the space of time required to finish housecleaning—usually about two weeks—women go native. The ugly ones get uglier and the pretty ones get almost as bad. They don't give a whoop. It's a form of female fun, something that millions of women feel they must do every so often to get even because men like to go on fishing trips and live like wild Indians.

When it's all over the women feel better. They have vindicated themselves and can forget about it for another year. It's the same feeling men have after a camping trip on which they have been so uncomfortable doing a lot of unnatural and unnecessary things that when they get back into a regular routine they are content to live there quietly for another year without noticing anything wrong with it.

Third Fire Summons In an Hour at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, April 9—Galion firemen were so busy answering calls Thursday afternoon that a second truck had to be sent out when a call came from the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing company while firemen were fighting a blaze at the airport on the west side of town.

First call came at 3:30 p. m. to the Canfield service station Harding Way East where a pile of rubbish was burning. At 4:15 the fire fighters were summoned to the west-end airport where a pile of lumber was burning near the old car-barn building. It was while they were fighting this fire that a summons came in from the Galion Iron Works at 4:30 p. m. Little damage resulted at the latter place where a blaze was confined around the cupola at the foundry.

COLLEGE PLAN IS CRITICIZED

Kenyon President Calls Report to President on Education "Unrealistic."

COLUMBUS, April 9—The president of Kenyon college, Gambier, today criticized a report of the President's commission on higher education as "unrealistic."

In a speech prepared for the opening session of the 79th annual convention of the Ohio College association and allied groups, Dr. Gordon K. Chalmers said.

"We are in sympathy with the effort to make general education available to large numbers not now enjoying it, but are confident that a way can be devised to do this without debasing both the idea and the practice of liberal education."

The President's commission took the view that "the academic selection of students is undemocratic."

"On the contrary," said Dr. Chalmers, "a non-selective program is the one which would really be undemocratic. Careful selection of students is essential to the maintenance and improvement of the quality of higher education."

The two-day convention was expected to attract 300 college administrators and faculty members.

Speakers on a dozen topics were on the program. Most of today's time was to be devoted to sectional meetings, with speakers discussing religious education, student financial aid and student health.

Top convention attraction, delegates said, is a speech tonight by Dr. William G. Avirett, education editor of the New York Herald-Tribune. He will address the convention banquet on "Colleges in the Fifties."

First speaker of the day was Dr. Helen D. Bragdon, association president and president of Lake Erie college, Painesville.

Dr. Bragdon, in a prepared speech, praised college cooperation in Ohio, saying "x x x in a state of so many colleges, there might easily be absense of close association or confusing competition."

The OCA president urged a greater effort "in the promotion of statewide pride and interest in the accomplishments and programs of Ohio's own colleges and universities."

R. L. Morton of Ohio university, Athens, O., told delegates there should be closer high school-college relations.

"There is developing among high school teachers and administrators," he said in a prepared speech, "a growing skepticism as to omniscience of college facilities."

WYANDOT CO. WOMEN HAVE ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., April 9—Three hundred Wyandot county women and guests are ready to face their home making problems with new enthusiasm after attending the annual Achievement day program Thursday. One World, the theme for the day, was effectively carried out in song, skits, and addresses. Badges were presented to the home councilors and to all alumnae members for their faithful and efficient service during the past year.

Mrs. George Peters, president, Ohio Home Demonstration council, in her talk regretted the failure of opening so great a meeting as that of the United Nations without prayer, or scripture reading. The sessions were continued, in charge of Mrs. Floyd Culver, president of the home council. Group singing was in charge of Mrs. Clarence Herring. Mrs. Rebecca Olds, an Ohio representative to the Associated Country Women of the World held several months ago in Amsterdam, portrayed life for neighbors across the sea. Mrs. Olds was dressed in the typical Holland costume. S. C. Cashman, county agricultural agent, gave some interesting and helpful remarks. Mr. Cashman, expressed the hope that we might some day have a World achievement day. During sessions, the homemakers chorus, directed by Mrs. Eugene Van Buren, gave musical numbers. Women of Richland and Jackson townships, and Mrs. Evert Lee and Mrs. Wesley Wonder presented short skits.

BOOSTERS TO BUILD OUTDOOR CAGE COURT

Harding Team To Get Large Practice Floor.

An outdoor basketball practice court 84 by 50 feet with a three foot margin on each side is to be built near the Harding football stadium with the work to begin immediately, John Peacock, president of the Booster club announced today. The court, financed by the Boosters, will be located on the northwest side of the stadium on the outside of the fence, he said. The Harding athletic board approved the site yesterday with construction to begin immediately. Plans call for completion of the project June 1.

The Boosters now running a "5 New Member Campaign," with the goal set at 1,000 members under the direction of Membership Chairman Harold Nussbaum, expect to use returns from the sale of membership tickets to cover the cost of building. The club has acquired 203 new members, and has 130 salesmen yet to report.

Ultimate plans call for the construction of 15 outdoor courts, one at each of three junior high schools and one at each grade school. Kenny Somerlot, basketball coach at Harding High school and crusader for better basketball facilities for training Marion athletes in the court sport, is the spark behind the building campaign.

Harding High School Orchestra Presents Concert at Theater

By FRANCES HAAS

The Harding High school orchestra and its director, Homer Huffman, instrumental music supervisor in the city schools, and members of the Miami university String Quartet from Oxford, O., who appeared as guest artists on the program, shared in the applause of the large audience on hand at the Palace theater last night for the orchestra's annual spring concert. Under the capable direction of their leader, the orchestra gave a performance which merited the generous applause and provided an entertaining evening of music for the approximately 1,200 persons attending.

Displaying precision in their selections, the string quartet, composed of Miss Elizabeth Walker, first violin, Lloyd Outland, second violin, Mrs. Anita Marcus, viola and Miss Elizabeth Potteiger, cello, won the praise of the audience. Their light and quick touch to the strings made the selections even more enjoyable.

The quartet, all of whose members are on the faculty of the music department of Miami university, played a group of five selections. They were "Old French Gavotte," an arrangement by Ponchon, "Andante Cantabile" a well-known composition by Tschaikowsky, "Canzonetta" by Mendelssohn, "Drink To Me Only with Thine Eyes" and "Irish Reel," both arrangements by Ponchon.

In 1946 the Miami university school of fine arts established the string quartet for the purpose of providing a source of fine chamber music for university students and faculty, and stimulating interest in the study of string music on the part of students in grade and high schools in Ohio.

18 Pieces In Orchestra

A colorful setting was provided for the concert by the girls of the orchestra, which is composed of 18 pieces, in various colored spring formals in pastel shades of blue, pink, yellow, green, lavender and rose. The boys of the group were in tuxedoes.

The earlier part of the program by the orchestra was given over to selections from somewhat well-known operas, including overtures, a prelude and a processional.

'Overture in D' from the light opera "Cephale et Procris, by A. E. M. Gretry, opened the program. This was followed by "Minuet" from the "E Flat Symphony" by Mozart. Next the orchestra played a clear and rhythmic composition, "The Dance of the Hours" from "La Gioconda" by Ponchielli, and the "Prelude" to "L'Arlesienne Suite No. 1," ("The Woman of Arles"), by Bizet. Arranged into two suites for orchestra.

To conclude the first part, the orchestra played four short movements of "Ballet Egyptien" by Luigini, and "Processional" from "The Queen of Sheba," a little known opera by the noted French composer, Gounod.

Civil War Song

A presentation of an arrangement of the most important Civil War song of the North, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," arranged by Wilhousky, was the first number by the orchestra in the last half of the program. The words in this stirring hymn were written by Julia Ward Howe in 1861 after she and her husband visited the army camps around Washington, D. C.

The orchestra then played a descriptive composition, "In a Persian Market," Ketelbey. The story told by way of the music is that camel drivers gradually approach, the cries of beggars for "backsheesh" (alms) are heard, and the beautiful princess enters, carried by her servants (she is represented by a theme given first by clarinet and cellos then repeated by full orchestra.) The princess stays to watch the jugglers and snake charmers. Suddenly the Caliph passes through the market and interrupts the entertainment. The princess prepares to depart and the caravan resumes its journey, while the market place becomes deserted.

"Down South," an American sketch which describes a typical plantation scene, by Myddleton, together with "Play Gypsies—Dance Gypsies," Kalman, played by the string orchestra, a group of "Victor Herbert Favorites," Herbert-Sanford, a march, "Gladiator," Sousa, and the National Anthem, concluded the program.

Nearly 1,100 boys and girls from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the various schools in the city, accompanied by several teachers, attended a program given by the orchestra and the string quartet in the afternoon.

Sponsored by Association

The Band and Orchestra Parents Association, headed by Mrs. Closs Musgrave as president, sponsored the concert, as well as the one given earlier in the year by the Harding band.

Following the concert, a reception was held for the guest artists in the home science rooms at Harding High school. Present were officers of the Band and Orchestra Parents Association, A. C. May, principal, and families, Lester L. Dickey, superintendent and members of the orchestra. Refreshments were served by the social committee of the association with Mrs. Cecil Noble as chairman.

Members of the orchestra are Joan Glassmeyer, Jane Williams, Phyllis Huffman, Bernice Shearer, Connie Jerew, Joan Bayles, Muriel Nichols, Marilyn Dengler, Ruth Pickering, Ann Coffey, Mary Fox, Eleanor Castanien, Nona Griffin, Harriet Alexake, Gloria Cummings, Joanna Jacobs, Anita Kaelber, Edna Thomas Wilde, Virginia Davis and Billy Hart, violins, John Cheney and Ruth Kull; violas, Steve Lacey and Peggy McWilliams, cellos, Virginia Schertzer, bass, Joan Anderson, Virginia Mason and Joyce Lister, flutes, Virginia Mason, piccolo, John Stuckey, oboe, Barbara Lee, Erma Gorentlo and Clara Jane Frederick, clarinets, Marilyn Guy, bassoon, Bonnie Harris, alto saxophone, Helen Kenyon, tenor saxophone, Mary Long, Bob Evans, Charlene Long and John Craven, horns, Jim Wanner and Wallace Musgrave, trumpets, Fred Hall, Bob Drollinger and Gene Winters, trombone, Martha Douce and Barbara Solie percussion, and Nancy Kuntz, pianist.

Crawford County School District

Mr. E. L. Trout moved the adoption of the following resolution:

HARDING CLOTHING DRIVE ENDS TODAY

Good Response Reported in School Campaign.

A drive to collect serviceable, used clothing for distribution to children in isolated rural areas of the United States, which has been under way this week at Harding High school under the sponsorship of the school Y-Teens organization, closed today. The campaign was conducted as a Save-the-Children "Bundle Day" drive, and distributions will be made by the Save the Children Federation.

A. C. May, principal of Harding, reported a good response was received from the residents of Marion in the appeal for clothing for less fortunate children. He said about 25 of the large shipping bags secured here from the federation have been filled and will be shipped as soon as possible.

The drive was a part of the Seventh National Children's Clothing crusade conducted under the auspices of a national committee of school superintendents.

Defense Runs In High Gear

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 9—Congress and the White House geared up machinery today to pump men, money and material into the broadening defense program.

Although major attention was centered on boosting the nation's air power, other moves followed the lines laid down by Secretary of Defense Forrestal. He cautioned congress not to build up one military arm at the expense of any other.

"National security demands balanced forces," the secretary declared, adding "dollars alone do not guarantee the delivery" of military goods.

These were highlight developments along the lengthening preparedness front:

Those Liable to Service

►The house armed services committee drew up a draft bill requiring registration of all men 18 through 30, but making only those 19 through 25 liable for two years' service.

Veterans with a year or more war service would have to register, but would be exempt; those with 90 days, but less than a year's service also would be exempt if they joint reserve units of the Army, Navy or Air Forces.

Forrestal, who will testify at opening hearings Monday, proposed much the same legislation, but his called for registration of men up to 45. He was due to discuss the draft before the senate armed services committee today.

MARANATHA REVIVAL

For his message tonight at the evangelistic service at the Maranatha Bible church, Rev. Tom Presnell will use as his subject, "The Voice of Satan in the Mouth of the Serpent and in the Mouth of Liberalism." Special music will be by Geraldine and Donald Weaver. At the service last night, Miss Elfrieda Jundt of Mansfield was soloist, and at the close of the sermon, "The Glory of Dying," Rev. Presnell sang "I Won't Have To Cross Jordan Alone." He declared, "There is no greater blessing and glory to the saint than dying. Jesus is the great victor over death. The Son of Man was made manifest that He might destroy the works of the devil which include death. Only for those whose treasures are on earth is death horrible." A Saturday night service will be held, Rev. Earl L. Holliday, pastor, announced.

Virginia Sale on Program For Club 'Ladies Night' Party

Two hundred and eighty-eight laugh-weary Marionites happily headed home last night after calling Virginia Sale back to the platform for five curtain calls, following her presentation of her Americana character sketches before the bi-annual "ladies night" dinner of the Marion Foreman's club at the Masonic Temple.

Miss Sale, star of stage, screen and radio and sister of the late Chic Sale, proved to her audience her years in Hollywood and on the networks had only served to polish a great talent for comedy.

Her sketches, each with its own costume and make-up convulsed her audience repeatedly. Her characterizations included "Mealtime in Indiana," a portrait of a harried housewife on the farm; "Three O'clock in the Morning," speeding the departing guest; and "Husband's Night at the Ladies' Monday Morning Club," which struck a chord of memory in the mind of every woman present.

Recalls School Days

Her portrayal of an early twentieth century grade school instructor in "The School Ma'am" brought joyous peals of laughter from every member of the large audience.

Miss Virginia Grover drew an ovation, both from Miss Sale and the audience for her accompaniment in Miss Sale's portrayal of torch singers of days long gone by as well as for her solo performance preceeding Miss Sale's appearance.

A "movie mama" of a child performer on the Hollywood sound stages as played by Miss Sale, showed a study of people and places and indicated that even Hollywood has its pests in human form.

With the skill of a true artiste Miss Sale brought tears not of laughter in her sketch "Grandma Willoughby," a character drawn from her own life as a child.

Impersonates Brother

Her final sketch was an impersonation of her own late humorist brother "Chic" Sale, entitled "Old Man With a Tuba," which evoked as many laughs as when he himself performed the role.

Miss Sale was introduced by H. H. Douthitt of the Marion Power Shovel Co., president of the Foreman's club, who served as toastmaster.

Assisting him in the arrangement of last night's dinner were Lester Dickerson of Marion Metal Products Co., club vice president; Roy Lovett of McMillin Feed, second vice president; Hugh E. Webster of Marion Chamber of Commerce, secretary, and Carl Marble of Ohio Public Service Co., financial secretary. The club operates under the sponsorship of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. The dinner was prepared and served by the Order of Eastern Star.

9-YEAR-OLD CONDUCTOR TO GIVE OHIO CONCERT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 9—The state said today nine-year-old conductor Ferrucio Burco could go on with his concert at Cleveland tonight if one third of the gross receipts goes to charity.

Industrial Relations Director William J. Rogers said Jack Petrill, Ferrucio's manager, had agreed to the conditions in a telephone talk from Rochester, N. Y., this morning.

Previously, the child prodigy was told he could not conduct the symphony orchestra concert because Ohio law forbids minors from performing unless the proceeds go to charity.

Petrill agreed, Rogers said, that one-third of the receipts from the concert, less federal tax would go to charity.

OHIO'S MOBILE CRIME LABORATORY

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I PUT my head on one side as I looked at my exuberantly triumphant husband.

"Indeed, you were good," I told him, "supremely so. Frankly, while I ought to have known you would succeed, I had several anxious moments in my 'listening post,' before Georges finally collapsed."

"Well," my husband admitted with a reluctant grin, "there were several scattered seconds—I hope you get the alliteration—when I wasn't sure myself whether or not he ever was going to cave."

"But he did give up completely didn't he?" I asked anxiously.

My husband gave me a quizzical look.

"Are you afraid he may have a change of heart, and try to make a weeping appeal to you?" he queried. "Remember, I'm warning you again, that if you furnish a well-cushioned shoulder for him to slobber on, I'll beat you up."

"It's not so well-cushioned," I told him childishly, ignoring his threat.

Dicky put his head back against his chair cushion, and guffawed uproariously, I guessed less at my banal quip as at the opportunity for letting loose the suppressed laughter which he had had ot stifle during his interview with Georges.

"'Dolling'" he assured me gravely when he could speak again, "far be it from me to asperse your girlish figger. You've kept it wonderfully, but there are no bones sticking out of it, are there? You wouldn't want that, would you?"

"Forget it, please!" I entreated, "and answer my question. Do you thing he's given up his crazy ideas completely?"

"If he hasn't, he is really insane, and belongs in Bellevue," he said. "But, whoever can tell about Georges? He's completely unpredictable."

"Oh, dear!" I said despondently.

"Look here!" he said quickly. "I didn't mean that to be as discouraging as it sounded. I really believe he's convinced of the truth of what I told him, and is going to be tractable. But, you know Georges. He wouldn't invite his soul out to tea and crackers with me, but he's going to try it on you, and I want to warn you to be firm with him."

I opened my lips to answer, but Dicky lifted a protesting hand.

"Let me finish first," he said. "I'll admit, I felt sorry for the poor devil when I found out what really was eating him, and, of course, I know that my pity wasn't in it with the divine compassion that was flooding your soul—"

"Dicky!" I protested angrily.

"You can punch me in the eye after you finish with Georges," he said. "All I'm after now is to make sure that you don't say something kind to him, that'll give him a chance to inflate his ego, or his conscience whichever he has on tap."

I drew a deep breath, and arose from my chair.

"I can be 'pushed just so far,'" I quoted militantly. "I'll attend to your case when I can get around to it. But if Georges tells me just once more that he insists upon Mary's telling him herself that she does not care for him, there won't be enough left of him to sweep into a basket."

U.S. TO BACK WEST EUROPE

Strong Military Support Indicated for Union Against Russ Expansion.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 9—The projected western European union now seems sure of strong American military support as a way to strengthen the west against feared Russian expansion.

In the opinion of Washington officials, however, several major problems remain to be worked out, including the precise forms this support may take.

Belgian Premier Paul Henri Spaak, who has conferred here this week with President Truman, Undersecretary of State Lovett, and other leaders, told a news conference the European nations will ask for military as well as recovery help later on.

First, Spaak said, they want to consolidate their new organization which so far has gone through only the first stages.

Spaak was one of the prime movers in a five-nation meeting at Brussels a month ago which drafted a treaty for economic, political and military cooperation among the western states.

The five nations which did the drafting were Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

The United States, in statements by President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall, already is on record as approving the formation of this western bloc.

Also, as Spaak reminded reporters last night, Mr. Truman told congress on March 17 that this country intends to back up the free nations of Europe in their struggle to maintain their freedom against Communist Russia.

Even before Mr. Truman spoke, state and defense department officials had been studying what steps along that line the American government might take. Their studies recently have been intensified, and Lovett told a news conference Wednesday some definite ideas have now been worked out although no formal policy decision has yet been made.

Two main lines of action are foreseen.

One is for the United States to undertake the arming of western European forces insofar as they need assistance in the form of guns, ammunition, planes, tanks and the like.

The other is in the form of an outright military alliance which the American government might make with the western bloc as a unit. The senate would have to ratify any such step as this, and the whole congress would have to approve the arming decision by pasisng on money requests.

Judge Favors Driving Course Approved Here

Driver training courses for high school pupils, which is to become a part of high school work in the Marion schools next year, have the endorsement of an Ohio municipal judge, an Associated Press dispatch reported today.

Judge Thomas M. Powers of the Akron municipal court thinks high schools should teach automobile driving the dispatch states.

Approval of the course was given by the Marion board of education at its meeting last Monday night. Tentative plans call for class room work together with practical training for high school pupils 16 years and up.

"Young boys and girls who have been trained to drive have fewer accidents than those who do not get such training," Judge Powers said yesterday.

In a talk at a traffic court and enforcement session of the West Virginia statewide safety conference, Judge Powers said the number of school-trained drivers involved in accidents is as much as 50 per cent less.

GE HEADS EXPECTING AGITATION IN PLANTS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 9—General Electric company officials expect GE plants in various parts of the country to be hit, possibly today, by a series of labor demonstrations and perhaps work stoppages.

George H. Pfeif, head of the company's employe relations division, said the disorders were foreseen as a protest against the company's resistance to union wage demands.

Pfeif has represented the company since March 2 in wage negotiations with the CIO United Electrical workers.

Commenting on Pfeif's prediction of labor demonstrations, Joseph Dermody, international representative of the union, said yesterday a "growing restlessness and impatience" among GE workers would not be surprising.

He said the company and union had been deadlocked on major issues for more than a month, and that the company has "carried on an active campaign recommending 'austerity living' to its employes" rather than agreeing to union-sought wage boosts.

Pfeif said that if the anticipated disorders amounted to "unauthorized work stoppages," the negotiations with the union would be suspended until the demonstrations ceased.

insulin, the pancreas kes substances which aid digestion of food. These ptied, not into the blood, the intestine.

Sometimes the pancreas be- infected and inflammation pancreas known as pancreatitis develops. It is a serious condition, the most important symptoms of which are pain in the abdomen, with sickness to the stomach and vomiting. The pain is one of the severest to which man has fallen heir.

During the first few hours, the pain is steady. Later, it becomes cramp-like and occurs at intervals. Still later on, the steady pain returns. In some cases, there is diarrhea. Frequently, blood is found in the bowel movements, or the patient may vomit bloody material. These things are due to bleeding into the lining membrane of the stomach and bowel.

As the pancreatitis continues, the patient may go into shock or callapse. However, it does not appear that this is usually an early symptom of the disorder.

During the early stages of the disease, the patient's temperature may range bebtween 99 and 101. As the condition progresses and gets worse, the temperature may rise as high as 106 degrees and the heart beats with extreme rapidity.

Now and then a patient with acute pancreatitis may develop spasms of the muscles known as tetany. This would seem to be due to a reduction in the amount of calcium or lime in the blood.

As you know, there are many disorders which may produce pain in the abdomen, together with fever, sickness to the stomach, and vomiting; hence, it is not a simple matter to make a dignosis of acute pancreatitis. The physician is called upon to use all of his ingenuity in determining whether this common trio of symptoms indicates acute pancreatitis or something whose treatment calls for entirely different measures.

The treatment of pancreatitis depends upon the severity of the condition. In some cases, operative treatment may be required. In other instances, keeping the patient at complete rest, administering fluids, and using other measures to prevent shock and collapse, may be far the best line of attack.

INTERNATIONAL JAY CEES ADOPT OHIO CREED

COLUMBUS—Junior Chamber International in convention at Rio De Janerio, has adopted the creed originated by the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce, Robert S. Rosencrans, executive vice president of the state JayCee group announced today.

The creed reads: We believe that the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations; that economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise; that government should be of laws rather than of men; that earth's great treasure lies in human personality; and that service to humanity is the best work of life.

COURT RULES PUCO CAN CURTAIL GAS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 9. — Ohio's utilities commission may curtail any utility service in the state if the people's welfare is involved, the supreme court has ruled.

The decision came on a city of Akron appeal from a commission order curtailing use of natural gas during last winter's emergency.

Akron contended the order was unconstitutional on the grounds the commission had no power to alter or amend the city's gas contract with East Ohio Gas Co.

The court held, however, that all contracts "are subject to the paramount rights of the people, and that all contracts involving the public welfare are subject to valid public regulations essential for the promotion of health, safety and welfare of the people."

Akron's appeal was against the commission order of Sept. 15, 1947, authorizing East Ohio Gas and other utilities to refuse to furnish gas for new heating customers because of the natural gas shortage.

This order recently was modified to allow gas companies to take on new space heating customers to the extent of their estimated capacity.

The supreme court, in another decision, upheld Summit county courts in ordering the East Ohio Gas Co. to furnish gas to Robert S. Newman of Akron. The court said the company's attempt to curtail gas had not been approved when it refused to supply Newman.

The court also ruled that James Roberts is city clerk of Canton. It directed the city auditor to pay his salary. Roberts was elected clerk Jan. 1 by the vote of the president of the council after regular members registered a tie. The city auditor contended the election was illegal because the president had no authority to break a tie.

CHRISTOPHER WANTS TO RETIRE THIS YEAR

New Tribe Pitcher Suffering from Leaky Heart.

By The Associated Press

LUBBOCK, Tex., April 9 — This may be the first and last year the Cleveland Indians will have the services of Russ Christopher, the gangling relief hurler recently purchased from the Philadelphia Athletics.

The submarine artist said today he planned to retire at the end of this season and explained:

"If it were up to me, I'd keep playing until they'd have to wheel me out in a wheel chair. But I've got to quit pretty soon and it has to be at the end of this year."

Christopher long has been plagued with a leaky heart condition which will never help as long as he remains active in baseball.

Christopher said he declared his retirement intentions to Bill Veeck before the Tribe president purchased him for $25,000 from the Athletics last Saturday.

The Indians would rather forget yesterday's game with the New York Giants at Albuquerque, N. M., because they were rendered completely helpless by the best pitching they have seen this spring.

Larry Jansen gave the Redskins only five hits, all singles as the Giants and their murderous home run bats pounded out an 8 to 4 triumph.

Walker Cooper, Sid Gordon and Les Layton rapped homers for New York.

FAIN GOES FULL SPEED

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 9—First baseman Ferris Fain apparently is going to go full speed for the Philadelphia Athletics despite his recent knee operation. Fain played his first full game yesterday since undergoing the knife and showed no effects of the operation. The A's lost to their city rivals, the Phillies, 4-3.

Derby Favorite Citation Preps for Kentucky Racing Classic

CITATION
with trainer BEN JONES
CITATION out for a morning workout

CALUMET FARM'S CITATION, solid winter-book favorite for the 1948 Kentucky Derby, is pictured here in his stall, being led from the barn to the track by Calumet's General Manager Ben Jones and out for a work-out. F. McMillen, his regular exercise boy, is in the saddle irons. Citation has won 12 of his 13 racing starts, was named the outstanding two-year-old of 1947 and is rated by many racing observers the equal of Man O' War at this stage of his career. BOBCATS TAKE ON MICHIGAN TODAY

ATHENS, O., April 9 — Coach Don Peden's 25th anniversary baseball team will take on the University of Michigan nine in a two-game series here today and Saturday after having split with Western Michigan in the opening games of the 1948 season.

The Bobcats, victorious in four of seven games played on their southern training trip, battled to a 4 to 3 win over the Western Michigan Broncos on Monday to launch successfully their defense of the Mid-American conference crown they won last year. But the Broncos turned the tables on Tuesday and came out ahead 5 to 3.

Don Poling, who won the opener over Western Michigan and also won over Clemson on the southern trip, probably will get the nod to hurl the opening game against the Wolverines, while Mark Wylie appears Coach Peden's probable starter in the Saturday contest. Wylie lost the second game here to Western Michigan, four errors and considerable loose playing helping to contribute to the Bobcats' downfall, and so far for the season has a .500 average. He hurled wins over Presbyterian and Erskine and lost to Duke on the southern trip.

Following the Michigan game, the Bobcats will journey to Columbus on Tuesday to test out the Ohio State nine, which they will meet on the home diamond again on May 31.

Garner Larned of William and Mary college, won the 1947 tennis singles championship in the annual intercollegiate matches.

RAMS OPEN CINDER SEASON

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 9—Northern Ohio league track champions for the past two years, the Upper Sandusky Rams will open their 1948 season at the high school field here with a non-league meet with Findlay at 4 p. m. today.

Lou Brissie, brilliant young hurler of the Philadelphia Athletics, shows his pitching windup and follow through. Brissie wears a heavy brace on his left leg, badly mangled in the war.

Brissie, Left for Dead on Battlefield, Comes To Life on Baseball Field for A's

By FRANK ECK

Associated Press Sportswriter

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Don't be surprised if some day they make a movie on the career of Leland (Lou) Victor Brissie Jr.

He's the handsome 24-year-old southpaw pitcher they left for dead on the battlefield but who has come to life in a big way in the camp of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Connie Mack believes Brissie some day will become greater than Lefty Grove. And Mack always ranks Grove as baseball's top southpaw.

A modest youth, Brissie sets the opposition down like an oldtimer despite the fact that he has only one good leg and very little of the other.

A German shell almost ended Lou's career. In northern Italy his infantry outfit was called to help an advance echelon in trouble. A shell exploded in the midst of American soldiers. Eleven were killed outright. Brissie was hit by 21 shell fragments. Stretcher bearer after stretcher bearer passed him by. He laid in a creek bed for hours. When the medical corpsmen finally picked Lou up the doctors decided to amputate his left leg. It was badly infected and crushed. His right leg, too, was broken. "You can't amputate," protested Brissie. "Then I'd never be able to play ball again. I'm a pitcher." He was told he'd never walk again. I'll take that chance," he said. It took 40 blood transfusions and 23 leg operations over a two-year period to save his life.

Brissie now wears a specially made aluminum brace under his pants or baseball stocking. He'll always need the brace because his left leg is practically all bone and a half-inch shorter than his right. "It's what they call a split skin graft," says Lou. "The muscles have grown to the graft. The shinguard buckles in the back like a catcher's."

Won 25 Last Year

Discharged from the Army late in 1945, Brissie pitched batting practice for the A's in 1946. Last season he played his first professional baseball, pitching for Savannah, Ga., in the Class A South Atlantic (Sally) league. He won 25 games, losing only six. His 1.91 earned run average led the league. He fanned 278 and allowed only 167 hits in 254 innings.

He fields like a fifth infielder. You've got to see his speed off the mound to believe it. "It's doubtful if Brissie has enough experience," says Connie Mack. "But he has everything. He has the height and weight and is bound to become a truly great pitcher.

"Brissie covers first base like a veteran major leaguer and can handle a bunt as well as anybody. He's very alive in the box. We finished one game out of the first division last season and I think Brissie will help us even though I'm not positive about using him as a regular starter."

Better Than Phil Rookie

Manager Ben Chapman of the Phillies says Brissie is faster than his $60,000 rookie, Curt Simmons, but that Simmons has a better curve.

"But remember," says Chappy "Brissie is about 215 pounds and about six-foot-five and when he throws that ball he's throwing down hill."

Brissie was married in April, 1944, just before he went overseas. He resides at Ware Shoals, S. C., with his wife and year-old daughter, Vici.

He received no bonus for signing and is playing for the minimum $5,000 salary.

Mangrum Posts 69 To Lead Masters

By The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9 — Fifty-six other pros and amateurs today contemplated the 69 posted by Lloyd Mangrum in the opening round of the 12th annual Master's golf tournament with some apprehension.

Teeing off for the second 18 holes of the 72-hole event, Mangrum's three-under-par score led the field by one stroke. Sixteen players were par or better for yesterday's play over the 6,000 yard layout. Among them were most of the entrants rated outstanding contenders in pre-tournament calculations.

Missing the select circle by one stroke was defending champion Jimmy Demaret, bracketed with six others at 73. He played with Bobby Jones, making his annual competitive appearance. Jones came in with a 76.

Bosox' Williams May Undergo Appendectomy

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, April 9—New England's hopes for an American league pennant today rode toward Boston with Ted Williams, homeward bound from New Orleans in a train berth for a possible appendectomy.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder, who missed 11 successive spring training exhibition games because of a back injury and was held out of a twelfth because of a cold, is due here Saturday afternoon. He will be met by Dr. Ralph McCarthy, Red Sox physician, who will examine him to determine whether an operation is necessary.

Ty Cobb's total stolen bases in league games from 1905 through 1928 totaled 892.

1st Midwest Lacrosse Game Saturday

The first official intercollegiate lacrosse game in the midwest will be played Saturday when Oberlin brings its team to Kenyon college. Ohio State, Oberlin, and Kenyon are the only Ohio colleges having lacrosse teams. For the Oberlin game, coaches from other Ohio colleges interested in organizing lacrosse teams have been invited.

Lacrosse was first initiated at Kenyon in 1941 as an unofficial sport. That year the Kenyon team played four games, lost one, and won three. The neophyte team beat Oberlin twice, downed Michigan and lost to the Gow Lacrosse club. After a wartime lapse, lacrosse came back to the Kenyon campus last year, operating again as a club. This year it makes its debut as a varsity sport.

Seven teams are on the schedule this year. Late this month the quad will travel to upstate New York to play Hobart and Sampson.

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla., April 9—The Washington Senators have signed a contract to return here for spring training for the next five years. Plans are to erect a new stadium and ask a National league club—possibly the New York Giants—to share facilities. The Senators break camp today and head north.

Believe Sutherland Suffering Breakdown

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, Ill., April 9 — John B (Jock) Sutherland, 59, veteran coach of the Pittsburgh football Steelers, remained in a Cairo hospital today for further examination. He was found yesterday in a dazed condition near Bandana, Ky.

Dr. H. F. Russell, Wickliffe, Ky., saw Sutherland last night and reported he was "much better."

Dr. Russell said in his opinion Sutherland was suffering "from a nervous breakdown brought on by overwork." He said Sutherland "had better rest in the hospital two or three more days before trying the long trip back to Pittsburgh by automobile."

Dr. Russell at first believed Sutherland might have been suffering from amnesia, but later he said he had about discarded that theory.

Training Camp Notes

DODGER "NEW LOOK"

ASHEVILLE, N. C. — The Brooklyn Dodgers, who have worn more "new looks" than a woman with 100 dresses, came up with a new infield lineup today that might be the one to open the season.

The new arrangement had Ray Sanders, his ailing arm seemingly improved, at first base, Jackie Robinson at second, Pewee Reese at Short, and Billy Cox at third. The quartet had their first whirl together yesterday as the Dodgers marked up their 22nd straight exhibition triumph at the expense of their Asheville farmhands, 7 to 2.

MARION HAS RECOVERED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — There was little doubt among the St. Louis Cardinals today that Marty Marion, their ace shortstop, has completely recovered from his knee injury of last week.

Before the Cards' 2 to 1 loss in a four-and-a-half inning game to the Birmingham Barons yesterday, Manager Eddie Dyer said, "I think Marion will open the season at short for us and so does he."

Marion then took the field and made two of his trademarked brilliant plays, going far to his right for a sharp grounder and then making a diving catch of a line drive behind second base.

Reds To Play Braves Today Enroute Home

By The Associated Press

FLORENCE S. C., April 9—The Cincinnati Reds, enroute home for the April 19 National league opener, dropped off here today for an exhibition game with the Boston Braves.

Manager Johnny Neun named Howard Fox and Bud Lively to handle the Redleg pitching chores, and Bill Voiselle will attempt to go the route for Boston.

The Reds lost to the Braves in two of three games during the grapefruit league play this year in Florida.

LUKE APPLING OK ON CHISOX HOT CORNER

By The Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 9—The experiment of making a third baseman out of the veteran shortstop Luke Appling is continuing to work out well for the Chicago White Sox.

Appling not only is holding down the hot corner in fine style but has been hitting well since the exhibition season started.

OLYMPIC WALKING TRYOUTS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 9 — The Cincinnati Gym, an athletic club founded in 1853, will sponsor the final Olympic tryouts for the 50 kilometer road walk here Sunday, May 16, Sebastion E. Lineman, chairman of the Olympic walking committee, announced today. The 31-mile course, which lies along the Ohio river from neighboring Neville, O., to the gym grounds, has no intersections. Linehan said it closely resembles the walking course in London where the Olympics will be held.

DECLARED INELIGIBLE

By The Associated Press

TROY, O., April 9 — Three of the key players on the Troy High school baseball team have been declared ineligible, Coach Elmer Baden said last night. Baden said Commissioner H. W. Emswiler of the Ohio High School Athletic association ruled out Wayne Morrett, Bill Johnston and Victor Shroyer for participating in a benefit basketball game as members of a Piqua municipal league during spring vacation.

2 Rookies To Start In Detroit Infield

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 9—Manager Steve O'Neill of the Detroit Tigers has picked his opening day infield, and it includes two rookies.

The rookies are first baseman George Vico and shortstop Neil Berry. Georve Kell will be at third and Eddie Mayo at second.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton jr.

NEW YORK, April 9 — Joe Louis, enroute home from England, sends word that reports of his being overweight have been grossly exaggerated. . . . Joe insists he feels fine and weighs "only" 222 pounds. . . . He's due here Monday and will take off almost immediately for Michigan to start training. . . . The football Dodgers, says one All American conference bigwig, can make it a four-way race for the eastern title next fall if they acquire a top-rank passer. . . . Venerable Jim Fitzsimmons, who is training 58 horses at Aqueduct, is especially proud of a colt named Buoyancy. . . . The colt broke a leg bone last spring and Mr. Fitz kept him in a sling for three months until it healed. Then the Wheatley stable presented the horse to Fitzsimmons.

DUE TO THE Olympic demands, the hop, step and jump event is on the Drake relays program this year for the first time since 1936. . . . Walter Hagen Jr., a pretty fair golfer and a former Richmond sportscaster, will air the Virginia Beach "specialists" golf tourney next week. . . . The Walker Cup soon will begin making the rounds of the clubs of each member of last year's winning team, going on exhibit for a short time . . . New twist: Larry "Moon" Mullins, St. Ambrose college football coach, claims he's in front of the eight ball instead of behind it. He has scheduled seven games for next fall but can't line up the eighth.

V.F.W. Baseball Team Will Practice Sunday

The V.F.W. baseball team will hold a practice session at 2 p. m. Sunday at McKinley park, if weather permits.

All team members are asked to be present. This is the third practice of the season as the team expects to get an early start.

To date team members are Don Cook, Max Roseberry, Dick Wynn, Harold Garver, Paul Taylor, Fritz Walters, Harold Dillion, Ray Culver, Ed Young, Gail Stout and Merle Loper. All these boys have played topnotch semi-pro baseball and a few have had professional experience. The V.F.W. team expects to field an experienced and well balanced squad.

7 Lettermen Return To Harding Diamond

Pete Howison, baseball mentor at Harding, starting his first campaign as diamond director for the Prexies reports that he has seven lettermen available for the season opener, but that no position is sewed-up. "Anyone who gains a berth on my team will have to earn it," he said.

Four lettermen are trying out for infield positions, and three are working for outfield spots. Battery units consist of Don Johnson, Clyde Seedle, Dick Lattimore, southpaw, and Merle Daum, pitchers; Jim Seiter and Dick Gherman, catchers.

Beginning the spring training sessions with 40 to 45 potential Ted William's, the squad now numbers 26 since the first cut early this week. There will be another cut before the first game which will be played April 26 at Mansfield, or, sometime during the previous week if a game can be arranged with one of the neighboring schools.

OWU FAVORED TO NIP B-G

By The United Press

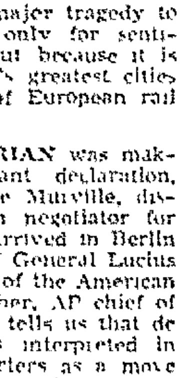
BOWLING GREEN, April 9 — Ohio Wesleyan, by virtue of four baseball games played already, is ranked a slight favorite to nip a still-untried Bowling Green nine which opens its season at Delaware tomorrow. Coach Warren E. Steller, after drilling his 60 candidates for the past three weeks, said today the team was in fair shape for this early in the season. The B-G diamond men will play a 16-game schedule.

Global Scene

By DeWitt Mackenzie

THE idea of creating a new German reich out of the three western zones of allied occupation gathers momentum as it becomes increasingly clear that Russia has sealed off and assumed permanent control of eastern Germany.

Further striking indication of this trend comes from a speech delivered before the German state legislature in the British zone by General Sir Brian Robertson, the military governor. Speaking with the personal approval of British Foreign Secretary Bevin, we are authoritatively informed, Sir Brian said:



MACKENZIE

"Come forward determined to make the best of that larger part of your country which is on the right side of the iron curtain. Make up your minds to stand against these gentlemen who, with democracy on their lips and truncheons behind their backs, would filch your German freedom from you."

Well, that's plain talk. The general didn't mention Communists specifically but there's no doubt that he was talking about them and was advising the Germans to reconcile themselves to losing Russian occupied eastern Germany, together with their capital, at least for the time being. And as I pointed out in a previous column, the inability to reconstitute the country with Berlin as the capital is a major tragedy to the people, not only for sentimental reasons but because it is one of the world's greatest cities and is the hub of European rail transport.

WHILE SIR BRIAN was making this significant declaration, Maurice Couve de Murville, distinguished French negotiator for German affairs, arrived in Berlin to be the guest of General Lucius Clay, commander of the American zone. Wes Gallagher, AP chief of bureau in Berlin, tells us that de Murville's trip is interpreted in authoritative quarters as a move to remove the difficulties in way of a merger of the French with the British and American zones. The latter two already have established politico-economic cooperation.

If the western allies decide to combine their three zones, the new reich will have a population of about 45,600,000 as against some 20,752,000 in the Russian zone. And because of the split, there will have to be a sweeping and arduous readjustment of the economy of both sections.

The Soviet zone contains Germany's best farmlands, and in pre-war days the rest of the country drew on it heavily for foodstuffs. Western Germany also imported huge quantities of food from eastern Europe and the Balkans—a source from which the west may long be cutoff.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the three western zones contain the bulk of Germany's iron ore and coal, a circumstance which has made them a great steel producing area. The Ruhr is (or was, before the war) one of the world's important industrial centers.

Obviously it will take long to rehabilitate a new reich and create a fresh economic structure. The war devastation in many parts of western Germany is terrific, especially in that all-important industrial Ruhr. Whole cities have been destroyed. Rail communications have been smashed and the rolling stock is only a fraction of what is needed. There is a tremendous need of machinery of all categories. That's the penalty of making war.

Still, western Germany can be rebuilt into a new state. We can go further and say it must be rebuilt, for it is needed as a keystone for the western European economic structure. We shouldn't overlook that before the war the economy of many European countries was inextricably interlocked with that of the reich—Holland, for instance, and other neighboring nations.

Thus we see that the rehabilitation of Germany is essential to the recovery of all western Europe. And in that sense it automatically must become an integral part of the Marshall program.

PERSONNEL CLUB OF JUNIOR C. OF C. MEETS

The Personnel club of the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce met Thursday at a luncheon at Hotel Harding, under the chairmanship of Roy Lovett.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 9 — The stock market had to contend with further profit cashing today and moderate irregularity was the result.

Professionals inclined to trim accounts on the idea a technical correction of the substantial recovery was overdue. The coal mine impasse, threatening transportation and widespread industries remained as a bearish influence.

The outlook for big defense spending again served as a prop for issues of companies that may benefit.

Dealings were fairly active from the start. The direction was somewhat foggy near midday.

New 1948 peaks were reached by Nickel Plate railroad, Southern Pacific and Hiram Walker.

Resistance was displayed by Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Boeing, Lockheed, Glen Martin, International Harvester, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Allied Chemical, International Paper and Great Northern Railroad.

Occasional losers included Sears Roebuck, International Telephone, International Nickel, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Philip Morris, Northern Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ) and United Air Lines. Numerous pivotals were unchanged.

The appeal of Edwin D. Young who was convicted here of first degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Zora Gerbes, is not included among the cases to be heard, putting an end to the speculation on the possibility of the Young case coming before this session of the court.

Cases to be heard are: Frank Slatzer and others against Nellie R. Little; the Single County Ditch petitioned for by Felix Reber and others and Mina Margaret Williams against the Marion Rapid Transit company.

Chief, Salary Cut, Still Gambling Foe

IRONTON, April 9—Vern Davis, chief of police at Coal Grove, launched a one-man campaign against gambling three days ago, ordered all slot machines out and posted notice of closing on an alleged racetrack book. Coal Grove council, at a meeting Thursday night, clipped the chief's salary from $20 to $10 monthly, on the grounds of insufficient revenue. The vote was four to one for the cut.

Recommendation for the salary cut came from Mayor Arch Malone, who said that he did not like Chief Davis' work. Councilman Bill Deeds, who refused to vote for the salary cut, said the proceedings looked "funny" to him, in that the economy move came within three days after Chief Davis had halted commercialized gambling in the village.

In addition to cutting Davis' salary, council abolished newly created positions of a mayor's secretary at $40 monthly, and an assistant clerk at $15 monthly.

Chief Davis said today he would remain on the job and so long as he does "gambling is out in Coal Grove."

CONFESSES SLAYING

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 9—An unemployed house painter, police said, admitted early today he had slain Mrs. Vera Lotito, 36-year-old bride, when she surprised him while he was burglarizing her mid-town apartment. The man, Julio Ramirez Perez, 35-year-old Puerto Rican, booked on a homicide charge, had been held since last Friday.
